

CALL FOR AN IT INTERN

Cold War History Research Center at Corvinus University of Budapest Hungary, FALL, 2014

The Cold War History Research Center at Corvinus University of Budapest was established in December 1998 as the first scholarly institution accredited as a non-profit organization in East-Central Europe. The Center hereby invites applications to its internship programme in the field of website development. Interested individuals with IT expertise are welcome to submit their application. Experience gained through on-the-job-training and who possess an IT degree are equally considered.

Responsibilities:

- Having a fully functional website is an absolute necessity to ensure easy access to information in respect of researchers, students and interested persons. Hence, the intern will take a fully fledged responsibility to upgrade the Center's website under the direct supervision of the Center's director.
- Editing and developing the website www.coldwar.hu (which includes scholarly articles, chronologies, bibliographies and other research aids).

Requirements and desirable qualifications:

- Exposure to the work of the Center
- High IT affinity is essential with excellent computer skills and working knowledge in developing a dynamic website.
- Proven ability, creativity and independent working skills
- Interest in working with a vast pool of international students
- English is a must, Hungarian is an asset

This is an unpaid internship; however, the Center, an internationally recognized entity in the field of academic research, will provide reference on the interns' work while at the Center and thus can support their further career path. The Internship is eligible for EU internship grants and also acknowledged for internship in Hungary for university requirement purposes. You are advised to contact your university's ERASMUS or other International coordinator, career service or try to arrange other ways of funding if required. If you are interested, please send your application to coordinator@coldwar.hu including an up-to-date CV and a cover letter. Kindly indicate information on projected time frame and duration of your internship.
